EVERY CEILING CAN BE BROKEN.

Lex Harrow was Kindled a Smith. Common grade. Ceiling twenty-four. The Lattice, the silver net that gives every soul in Caldor a class, a level and a limit, decided what he would be at fourteen, and nobody ever asked him.

Then a stranger walks into the Ashbourne forge, the seal on Lex's power cracks in a storm of gold fire, and a voice wakes up in his head. His class was a mask. His blood is the Root of the Lattice itself. And the father he thought was dead hid it there on purpose.

Now the Wardens of the Order want him chained, a Pale Warden is spreading the Gloam across the land, and the only person who can help him is the brother he hasn't seen in eight years: the mad warlock of the Greyspine, holding a breach in the world shut with his own mind.

Two estranged brothers. One broken System. A father's secret that could free every soul in the world, or end it.

The epic LitRPG saga begins.

EPIC FANTASY · LITRPG

Book One of The Lattice Chronicles

VERDANT LIFE LLC

I

THE SORCERER'S RECKONING

THE SKILL JUNKY

BOOK ONE · THE LATTICE CHRONICLES

THE SORCERER'S RECKONING

Every Ceiling can be broken.

THE SKILL JUNKY